STEP TEN:

- SEARCH PA TROUT IN THE CLASSROOM

The screenshot shows the Google Groups homepage in Internet Explorer. The browser's address bar displays `http://groups.google.com/?hl=en&pli=1`. The search bar at the top contains the text "PA TROUT IN THE CLASSROOM". A red arrow points to the search bar. Below the search bar, there is a navigation menu with links for "Mail", "Calendar", "Documents", "Photos", "Sites", "Groups", "Web", and "More". The "Groups" link is highlighted. The main content area features the Google Groups logo, a search bar, and a "Search Groups" button. Below the search bar, there is a "Preview the new Google Groups experience" message with a "Learn more" link. The "Explore groups" section lists various categories: Arts & Entertainment Groups, Business Groups, Computer Groups, Health Groups, Home Groups, News Groups, People Groups, Recreation Groups, School & University Groups, Sci/Tech Groups, and Society & Humanities Groups. The "My groups" section provides instructions on how to create a new group in three steps: 1. Create an account, 2. Setup your group, and 3. Invite people. The "My profile & stats" section shows the user's profile information, including the email address "paigef12@yahoo.com" and a "View your full profile" link. The footer contains links for "Create a group", "Google Home", "Terms of Service", and "Privacy Policy".

STEP ELEVEN:

- APPLY FOR MEMBERSHIP

The screenshot shows a Windows Internet Explorer browser window displaying a Google Groups page. The browser's address bar shows the URL http://groups.google.com/group/pa_TIC?lnk=srg&hl=en. The page title is "PA Trout In The Classroom | Google Groups". The browser's menu bar includes File, Edit, View, Favorites, Tools, and Help. The browser's toolbar includes a search box with "Live Search" and various icons for home, RSS, print, page, and tools. The browser's status bar shows "Internet" and "100%".

The Google Groups page has a green header with the group name "PA Trout In The Classroom" and a search box. Below the header, a message states: "You cannot view this group's content because you are not currently a member. Members must be approved before joining." The description of the group is: "Welcome! This is the new Trout In The Classroom Forum where Teachers along with Program Partners can share their experiences, ask questions and connect with each other across Pennsylvania." Below the description, it says: "You must be a member of this group to read its archive." A red arrow points to the link "Apply for membership" in the text "Apply for membership or contact the owner." The right sidebar contains a "Home" section with links for "Discussions", "About this group", "Apply for group membership", and "View this group in the new Google Groups".

STEP TWELVE:

- DECIDE HOW FREQUENTLY YOU WANT TO GET EMAILS REGARDING TIC
- LET US KNOW IF YOU ARE A PROGRAM PARTNER OR A TEACHER

The screenshot shows a Windows Internet Explorer browser window displaying the Google Groups subscription page for the group "PA Trout In The Classroom". The browser's address bar shows the URL: http://groups.google.com/group/pa_TIC/subscribe?hl=en¬e=1. The page features a green header with the group name and search boxes. The main content area is titled "Join" and contains several sections:
